Editorial

Between sweltering summer heat and humidity, month long fasting, Eid-ul-fitr holiday interval and stints of torrential monsoon rain, the EWU faculty members and students accomplished a good deal this Summer both in academic and in extra- curricular activities. In fact it has been quite a successful semester for faculty members who engaged in knowledge dissemination supported by the EWU Center for Research and Training. The student community also thrived with activities assisted by different clubs and EWU Career Council Center.

The university generated a number of important programs. Department of Pharmacy held a crucial seminar on the prospects of pharmaceutical products of Bangladesh in which Mohammed Nasim, M.P., Minister of Health and Family Welfare and others spoke as designated discussants. A MoU between IT Project Implementation Team and the Bangladesh Computer Council; and a preliminary proposal of MoU was also signed between Governance and Taxation Research, Business School of Victoria University and Victoria University of Wellington. Homage was paid to Father of the Nation, Bangabandhu, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman on his 40th death anniversary on 15 August 2015.

This year, Summer was also probably the most happening semester for some individual faculty members for their knowledge making. Departments which worth mentioning for producing quality publications are- Department of English, Department of Business Administration, Department of Electronics and Communications Engineering, and Department of Pharmacy. EWUCRT provided research grants to Dr. Shahriar Haque, Department of English; Mr. Md. Ziaul Haque, Department of Business Administration; and to Mr. Nikhil Chandra Shil, Department of Business Administration for their research proposals. Some others who deserve accolade for their publication locally and abroad are- Dr. Samsun Nahar Khan, Department of Pharmacy; Dr. Sardana Islam Khan, Department of Business Administration; Prof. Anisul Haque, Department of Electrical and Electronic Engineering; Dr. Bijoy P. Barua, Department of Social Relations and Dr. Dilara Begum (Head of EWU Library).

During Summer, students were involved in activities that enhanced their personal skills and social role. Some highlights of club activities are - World Telecommunications and Information Society Day by EWU Career Council Center; 2nd CSE Festival by EWU Computer Programming Club; Engineering Contest Carnival by EWU Electronics Club; MindGym workshops, 'Golpo O Ganer Ashor', and Tree Fair by EWU Environmental and Social Club; Blood Donation Camp by the Rotaract Club; and IT and ITES training , apps development training, campus recruitment programs by EWUCCC that kept students preoccupied throughout the semester. There had been a huge number of student job placements in reputed corporate offices as well. Summer was a semester of social congregation, religious festivity and fun-fair; most departments and clubs arranged ifter parties within their close circles. The EWU family should thus be happy and satisfied by the semester's overall performance and achievements!
