

Ordeal at New Campus

THE first two weeks at the new campus of East West University turned out to be an ordeal for the students. The air conditions did not work (still not working) and some of the classrooms did not have either fans or ac, for which students suffered a lot in the heat. Moreover, there wasn't any water in the bathroom. Even now, water is unavailable from time to time. The construction is still going on and teachers have to shout in huge classrooms because of the noise the fans make. My question is why the authority had to move to the new campus without proper planning. It was sheer neglect and also cruelty, because at the end of the day the teachers and the students are the ones who are suffering.
